A European Union programme to fund curriculum projects and limited staff travel to plan activities.

An opportunity to share good practice as part of a large European family of special educators

The chance for pupils and staff to learn about other cultures and languages

A forum to explore common identity and similarities

The chance to involve the wider community in curriculum projects

A tool to engage learners and make learning relevant and meaningful

Related to the school's aims of supporting spiritual, cultural, social and moral education

Exciting, fun but hard work.
